

A wedding couple is posed next to a white vintage car. The groom, on the left, wears a dark blue suit, a light blue shirt, a patterned bow tie, and sunglasses. He is leaning against the front of the car. The bride, on the right, wears a long, white, lace-trimmed wedding dress with a long train. She stands in front of the car. The car is a white vintage model with whitewall tires and chrome hubcaps. A bouquet of flowers is visible on the roof of the car. The background shows a house with a large arched doorway and stone accents. A green rectangular box is overlaid on the image, containing the text.

Our employees had a great time at the photo booth. The process was completely seamless and the Booking Manager was extremely responsive to my emails. They came to set up the booth an hour before the event started and were attentive to our requests. The price was also unbeatable! Great experience

Photobook is a creative process. I was able to have tropical background for the photobooth. I would appreciate the work done by 199 photobooth

A production of "My Fair Lady" had Evan and Bridget turning a stage romance into a real one.

"I admit there were some nights I was performing just for him," Bridget, 30, says. "To begin with, we were unable to speak to each other, but always had this curious draw to one another."

Evan, 31, says that he was also watching her every move during the performance and although they knew each other professionally, it wasn't until a colleague dropped some hints that Evan gained the confidence to approach her.

After the summer, Evan, a set designer, went back to his native New York and Bridget to Kentucky, where she pursued a career as an operations manager in an all-natural chain of salons. They kept in touch through letters and email for six years.

"It suppose it was an exchange of thoughts that brought us closer together. It was unique," Bridget says.

The long-distance affair is telling of the strength of their relationship and when Bridget was sent to New York for work in 2007, sparks flew.

"I realized our lives wouldn't be complete without each other" Bridget says.

Evan and Bridget returned to the exact spot where they had met 10 years earlier while on vacation in 2011, and that's when Evan popped the question.

"I thought he was picking up a quarter when he knelt down," says Bridget. "I was blown away when he asked. It was our loveliest, happiest moment."

The couple chose the Gantry Plaza State Park waterfront in Long Island City for their ceremony, which was officiated by Evan's brother Andrew.

"We wanted someone who knew us as a couple," Bridget says. "Andrew knocked it out of the park. It was absolutely beautiful."

After the ceremony, Evan and Bridget led the congregation to the nearby Water's Edge, where Evan had designed all the centerpieces — cylindrical vases with submerged snapdragons and floating candles.

Guests stared out onto the New York City skyline and danced the night away.

Evan and Bridget chose the Manhattan, made with Kentucky bourbon, as their signature cocktail.

"Both our hometowns were represented in the drink, a little bit of New York and a little bit of Kentucky."
